

WINDOWS 8 SUPPORT STATEMENT

July 13, 2012

Preliminary testing of TrialDirector 6, TimeCoder Pro 6 and DepoView 6 have been performed on Consumer Preview editions of Windows 8. While these tests have been helpful to ascertain the fitness of inData software products in this new operating system, a decision as to support will not be available until after the Windows 8 release date in late October. In order to fully ensure that inData software products will reliably operate in Windows 8, further compatibility testing will be performed with the forthcoming RTM (Release to Manufacturing) and Public releases.

In the interim, inData does not recommend installing or using its software products in the Windows 8 environment. Further, support will be unavailable for any of inData's software products in the Windows 8 operating system until compatibility testing has been successfully completed and publicly announced.
