

TRIAL PREPARATION & CONSULTING WITH INDATA CORPORATION

inData's trial consultants bring years of experience in the courtroom to your litigation team. With our assistance, your team can focus on case theory, strategy, and the law, rather than how, where, and when the exhibits will be displayed in court.

There are many additional advantages to having inData trial consultants with you in the courtroom. inData's on-site trial team can "free-up" your litigation staff, while the consultants work with the trial attorneys to prepare a witness, create demonstrative graphics, and provide document imaging and management services. Additionally, our trial consultants will maintain presentation and war room system integrity throughout the trial.

WHY CHOOSE INDATA TRIAL CONSULTANTS?

We Are Masters Of Technology In The Courtroom.

inData develops TrialDirector®, the most popular trial presentation software on the market. Every one of our trial consultants is required to master this program and other cutting-edge technology, to maximize the impact of your presentation. We also have graphic designers and software developers on staff to ensure that the technological requirements of your presentation are met.

We Are Experienced, Seasoned Professionals.

inData's national trial consultants are constantly in court, helping our clients win cases. Our trial consultants have worked on numerous high profile cases such as U.S. v. McVeigh, Intergraph v. Intel, PUR v. Brita, Unocal v. Mobil, and U.S. v. Kaczynski. Our consultants have years of experience in the courtroom. And all of our consultants are full-time employees, not independent contractors, with extensive back-up coverage available. So whether you need a team of consultants or only one, we have you covered.

We Can Assist You With All Your Case Needs, From Discovery Through Trial.

inData is a full-service litigation support firm that provides strategic consulting and services for discovery through trial to litigators nationwide. Not only can we help you at trial, but we can also support the intensive preparation leading up to trial.

HOW INDATA TRIAL CONSULTANTS CAN HELP YOU WIN CASES

Once an inData consultant is retained by your firm, he or she can handle multiple responsibilities at your direction, alleviating the burden on you and your staff.

Pre-Trial Preparation

In the final weeks and days leading up to trial, the preparation can be extensive and overwhelming. inData's consultants can assist with pre-trial preparation, working side-by-side with your trial team. We will:

- ▶ Assist in pre-trial preparation, including database creation and maintenance
- ▶ Coordinate data -- video, documents and demonstrative evidence -- in proper locations to ensure ease of use, search and retrieval
- ▶ Work with expert witnesses and outside vendors to produce quality exhibits
- ▶ Assist in the preparation, creation, or modification of exhibits
- ▶ Create witness video clips from video depositions for impeachment purposes
- ▶ Produce professional quality PowerPoint® presentations
- ▶ Prepare trial and witness notebooks
- ▶ Develop case presentation strategy
- ▶ Help paralegals, attorneys, and expert witnesses understand what presentation techniques work best at trial

Demonstrative Graphics

A good picture is worth a thousand words. Do you need to re-enact the scene of an accident? Do you need to simplify complex engineering schemas? Or are you simply focusing on several contract clauses? Your inData trial consultant will strategize with you on how to visually augment your presentation with professional graphics. Our staff includes full-time graphic designers, who specialize in demonstrative graphics for trial. Our design professionals create aesthetically pleasing demonstratives that enhance the purpose and subject matter of each exhibit. We will:

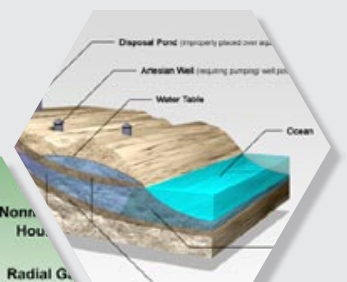

- ▶ Design eye-catching representations with a quick turnaround time
- ▶ Create charts, graphs, blue prints, and other graphics to help the jury visualize your story
- ▶ Provide around-the-clock support with flexible change requests

War Room Configuration

A War Room is critical to your success, especially when using trial presentation technology. An ideal war room is a technological duplicate of the courtroom, where the trial team can comfortably rehearse, gather exhibits, and prepare witnesses 24 hours a day. inData trial consultants will help you create the ideal war room for your trial team. We will:

- › Design a comprehensive war room configuration that takes into account your specific needs
- › Install necessary computer equipment
- › Obtain additional hardware equipment necessary to meet your configuration needs

Courtroom Configuration

Many, but not all, modern courtrooms are configured for electronic presentation. You may need to provide the hardware components of the presentation: monitors, projectors, speakers, wiring, and networking, to name a few. inData offers equipment rental for trials, if you do not have the necessary hardware available.

Our standard courtroom set-up includes the use of a projector as the main display for the jury, 17" LCD monitors for the rest of the courtroom, and a plasma screen for the gallery. Your inData trial consultant can provide a quote for hardware rental pricing, once he or she has had the opportunity to inspect the courtroom where the trial will be held. We will:

- › Design and install necessary computer equipment in the courtroom
- › Confirm that all computer hardware and software to be used during the trial is fully operational
- › Confirm and certify that the installed presentation system meets with the court's approval and conforms to the court's pre-trial specifications
- › Schedule equipment set-up and tear-down with court officials
- › Provide assistance in renting/purchasing presentation equipment
- › Ensure equipment locations for lines of sight, lighting, and audio are satisfactory

Trial Presentation

Using trial presentation technology, especially in today's multimedia culture, can be a huge advantage in trial. Trial presentation software can greatly enhance the ability of the judge and jury to visualize your story. It also provides an effective method for comparing one or more items, such as documents or photographs. Using this advanced technology, you can also retrieve and display impeaching testimony or documents at a moment's notice.

Your inData trial consultant will use TrialDirector software to visually present your case. Using this software specifically developed for use in the courtroom, you and the consultant can work from a prepared presentation, yet seamlessly adapt as needed. We will:

- ▶ Provide complete technical support for presentation systems and technology
- ▶ Pre-load and present your case exhibits and video at trial with TrialDirector, our winning trial presentation software
- ▶ Recall and display impeaching testimony and documents on-the-fly as needed
